Dow Corning and You

A RICHLY Rewarding Work Experience

- A place where you matter
- A company that cares about you
- The freedom to invent your own future
- A total rewards package with special and unique benefits

We are innovative leaders
unleashing the power of silicon to benefit everyone, everywhere.

At Dow Corning, we're passionate about silicon-based technology – its versatility, its possibilities and its unique potential to improve the world we share.

The products we manufacture – and the way we manufacture them – make the world a better place.

We make houses last longer, cars safer, industry more efficient and patients more comfortable. Our leading-edge science literally helps save lives. And our next-generation solutions are helping solar power become an accessible, self-sustaining energy alternative.

Contributing to the sustainability of our world

The work we do each day contributes to the sustainability of society, the economy and our environment:

- We listen, understand and act to meet our customers' needs, exactly.
- We partner with our communities to help make the places where we live, work and play better for all.
- We contribute to the education of tomorrow's generations.

We couldn't do any of this without the support of committed, energetic, empowered employees.

At Dow Corning, people really matter

Employees are the source of all of our ideas, actions and performance. We value unique perspectives, educational backgrounds, experiences and ways of thinking.

So, just as we listen to our customers, we listen to employees.

An open, relaxed atmosphere

As a Dow Corning employee, you become part of a results-oriented global family of people who sincerely care about one another and approach their work with pride, integrity and humility.

We may be a global company, but we have a unique, small-town feel. It's the kind of place where you can call everyone – across all levels of the company – by their first name ... where you can speak up, take risks and make a difference.

The freedom to invent your own future

At Dow Corning, your future is not predetermined by us. It is invented by you.

This is a high-performing culture where talent and hard work matter. We encourage you to take on additional responsibilities, get out of your comfort zone and achieve your full potential.

You supply the ambition, and we'll supply the opportunities, including the coaching, mentoring and flexible work-life environment you need to succeed.

An award-winning place to work
