Dear Valued Supplier,

Today, The Dow Chemical Company ("Dow") successfully completed the restructure of its ownership of Dow Corning. A joint venture partner since Dow Corning's founding 73 years ago, Dow is now 100 percent owner of Dow Corning's silicones business.

The addition of Dow Corning brings an entirely new chemistry to Dow's portfolio and diversifies Dow's product offerings in several attractive end-use applications such as building and construction, consumer care, transportation, coatings, packaging, electronics and energy.

During the next few months, we will work diligently to have the new organization in place. In the meantime, there will be no immediate change in the way business is transacted. Please continue to work with your existing procurement contacts. They are there to help answer your questions on any transactional issues that arise over the next several weeks, and to keep you informed on our integration progress. For timely information on supplier news, please also visit our supplier website to learn more.

As we move forward in the integration process, we plan to launch a series of strategic sourcing initiatives that will help us evaluate current supplier relationships. We are particularly eager to continue to work with companies who have been valued suppliers. If any changes are necessary, we will inform you in advance.

On behalf of Dow and Dow Corning, we want to thank you for your continued support. If you have any questions or require additional information, please don't hesitate to call your current business contact.

Sincerely,
